Yes. Right now the litigation is stayed but the stay was originally scheduled to end next Monday. My understanding is that pebble has agreed to jointly move to extend the stay so we can resume discussing settlement.

They are coming in tomorrow afternoon to lay out their current negotiating position, meeting with OGC (DOJ will also be there d/t ongoing litigation context). I will be there.

We had a pre briefing today and will have a second pre briefing situation tomorrow.

Once we get a full sense of their current ask we can brief you/SP on where they are and what OGC and DOJ's analysis is.
